

SOCIETY

Paina at Pearl Harbor.

The "paina" given at the Hon. John Colburn's beautiful place at the Peninsula, on behalf of Prince Kalaninuihewa, Delegate to Congress, was one of the most magnificent affairs that has been given for many years in the islands. A large marquee, enclosed with coconut leaves and flags of all nations had been erected near the beach. As the guests arrived in launches, they were received by Mrs. Arthur Marix and Mrs. Albert Waterhouse, who had been invited to act as hostesses for the occasion. These two society women stood under a spreading tropical tree, and greeted every one in a cordial manner as they paid their respects. Mrs. Arthur Marix was stunning in a pompadour brocade, with gold bands, veiled in black marquisette, a chic black velvet toque shirred with American Beauty satin was worn and gave the finishing touch to the beautiful costume. Mrs. Albert Waterhouse looked handsome in white marquisette, trimmed in black velvet bands. A becoming black picture hat was worn. To the left of the receiving party was a small summer house, that had been especially fitted for the comfort of the Queen, where Her Majesty rested and chatted with old friends, until the last of the guests arrived, and the luncheon was served. Scarcely had there been such a scene of tropical beauty as the marquee in its trimmings of flowers, vines, waving flags and pennants, and the animated group of distinguished guests, enjoying the novelty of the Hawaiian feast—each of the guests thrilling with excitement over participating in this historic event. Each one of the guests wore an illima lei, twined with mallow. There were three large tables placed almost in the form of a "hoi low square." At the longest table crossing the two others sat the illustrious guests of Prince Kalaninuihewa. They were Queen Liliuokalani, Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Admiral and Mrs. Thomas, General and Mrs. Macomb, Judge and Mrs. Sanford Ballard Dole, Captain and Mrs. Arthur Marix, Chief Justice and Mrs. Alexander Robertson, Admiral Southland, Captain and Mrs. Harlow, Captain and Mrs.

Clifton Carter, Commander Terhune and Mrs. James Wilder. Each one of the guests were decorated with a broad, scarlet satin band, with the name "Kalaninuihewa" inscribed in gold. A coterie of young girls passed delicious Hawaiian delicacies. They were clad in dainty white lingerie gowns and wore the red ribbon bands in their hair. During the feast, numerous and clever speeches were made. Judge Alexander Robertson acted as toastmaster. Following are a list of the guests who were invited:

Supper Dance on West Virginia.
This afternoon officers gave an informal supper dance Wednesday evening on the U. S. S. West Virginia. The ship was decorated with pennants and flags, dancing was enjoyed on the quarter deck of the ship. A buffet supper was served in the wardroom, shortly before midnight. The long table was handsomely decorated with American Beauty roses. The chaperones on this occasion were Lieut. and Mrs. Owen of the U. S. S.

Navy and Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Schieffer. Among those present were Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, Miss Violet Makee, Miss Geraldine Neuman, Miss Paul, Miss Harriet Lucas, Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Mary Lucas, Miss Francis Couzens, Miss Katherine Stephens, Mrs. Williams, Miss B. Williams, Miss Babcock, Miss Case, Miss Alice Cooper, Mr. Ed. Hedman, Mr. Worral, Mr. Bert Clark the four chaperones and the officers of the West Virginia.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Calhoun's Tea.
Lieutenant and Mrs. Calhoun are entertaining this afternoon on the U. S. S. Maryland in honor of Miss Wilhelmina Tenney. The character of the entertainment is a dancing party and tea. Among the invited guests are Mrs. Edward Tenney, Mrs. Noonan, Mrs. Gustav Schieffer, Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, Miss Geraldine Neuman, Miss Mary Lucas, Miss Violet Makee, Miss Ethel Bishop, Miss Harriet Lucas, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Catherine Goodale and the wardroom officers of the ship.

Lieutenant Rhodes' Dinner.
Friday evening Lieutenant Rhodes will entertain a coterie of his friends at dinner. The dinner will be served at half after seven in the wardroom of the U. S. S. California. Among Lieutenant Rhodes' guests will be Captain and Mrs. Arthur Marix of the U. S. Marine Corps, Mr. and Mrs. Ditson of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Henry Waterhouse, Miss Katherine Stephens, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Ethel Bishop, the Misses Hogan of Spokane, Wash.; Miss Nora Sturgeon and the wardroom officers of the U. S. S. California.

Mrs. Gamble and the Misses Gamble to Entertain.
Mrs. Gamble and her two daughters have issued invitations for a card party that is to be given at their home on Anapuni street Tuesday afternoon. "Bridge" is the form of amusement that has been chosen for the guests.

Many purchases of trimmed hats are being made for Christmas at Miss Power's millinery parlor. Miss Power has a specially beautiful assortment now on hand and has made arrangements to deliver purchases on Christmas morning or any time that the customer desires. What more acceptable gift for a lady than a beautiful trimmed hat from Miss Power's stock.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Calhoun's Dinner.
Mrs. Helen Noonan will be the guest of honor at a beautiful dinner dance that is being planned by Lieutenant and Mrs. Calhoun. The function is to be given Monday evening on board the host's ship, the U. S. S. Maryland. The wardroom is to be handsomely decorated with hothouse flowers and smilax. During the dinner there will be music furnished by the ship's orchestra; afterwards dancing will be enjoyed on the quarterdeck. Among Lieutenant and Mrs. Calhoun's guests will be Mrs. Helen Noonan, Mrs. Edward Tenney, Mrs. Arthur Wilder, Miss Alice Macfarlane, Miss Violet Makee, Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, Miss Thelma Parker, Lieutenant-Commander Ralph Poe, Lieutenant J. G. Harry, Lieutenant Pence, Lieutenant Frank Eklund, Lieutenant Claude A. Bouvillian, Ensign Stiles, Ensign Weist and others.

General and Mrs. Macomb's Dinner.
General and Mrs. Montgomery Macomb were host and hostess at an impromptu dinner that was given at their home on Beretania avenue. The entertainment was given Wednesday evening in honor of Admiral Southland of the U. S. Navy. Cut flowers and maidenhair fern made an attractive decoration. Among those present were General and Mrs. Macomb, Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, Admiral Southland, Captain and Mrs. Clifton Carrol Carter and Mrs. Daniel Hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Tenney's Dinner.
A dinner of note was given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tenney at their home on Pensacola street. Lavender and white orchids adorned the handsomely arranged table, combined with Australian maidenhair fern. Oriental place cards, portraying Oriental scenes, designated each one of the dozen covers. After dinner the assemblage played bridge. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tenney, Admiral and Mrs. Walter Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham, Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, Miss Margaret Walker, Mr. Harry Macfarlane and Lieutenant Pence of the U. S. Navy.

Major and Mrs. Timberlake's Dinner.
Tall silver candelsticks in colonial design and a profusion of pink roses were accessories to the exquisitely appointed dinner table presided over by Major and Mrs. Edward Julius Timberlake. The dinner was given last evening at their home at Fort Ruger. The many candles were shaded by filigree silver shades, lined with pink satin. Long strands of smilax and pink tulle were effectively introduced amidst the floral decorations. The place cards bore the monogram of the hostess in gold. Among Major and Mrs. Timberlake's guests were Governor Walter Frear, Commander and Mrs. Chester Wells, Mrs. Dobbins of California, Mr. and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop and Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Waterhouse.

Ensign Weist's Dinner.
Ensign Weist made a jovial host at the dinner which was given aboard the U. S. S. Maryland Wednesday evening. The setting for the delightful affair was in the wardroom. Purple and white asters decorated the long table; the place cards depicted foreign scenes of travel. After dinner a number of rubbers of bridge were played. Among those present were Captain Elliott of the U. S. S. Maryland, Lieutenant and Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, Lieutenant and Mrs. Roy Francis Smith, Miss Helen North, Miss Callie Lucas, the host and officers of the wardroom.

Admiral and Mrs. Thomas' Dinner.
One of the chief social functions to be given this week is the dance that is to be given on the twenty-eighth of December by Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Thomas. The function is to be given on the flagship U. S. S. California, and a delightful time will be experienced. The ship will be handsomely decorated with flags and pennants, and a wonderful decoration is to be carried out with incandescent lights.

Captain Elliott's Dinner.
A profusion of yellow chrysanthemums adorned the cabin of Captain Elliott of the U. S. S. Maryland when he entertained at dinner Friday evening. Covers were arranged for sixteen; the place cards were designed to carry out the color scheme of yellow and green. The Maryland's orchestra played during the dinner hour. Among Captain Elliott's guests were Admiral and Mrs. Thomas, Admiral and Mrs. Walter Cowles, General and Mrs. Montgomery Macomb, Major and Mrs. Neville, Lieutenant and Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, Miss Gay and two wardroom officers of the Maryland.

Miss K. Stephens' Dinner.
Tuesday evening, Miss Katherine Stephens entertained a few friends informally at dinner. Violets and maiden hair fern ornamented the table. Mrs. Arthur Marix acted as chaperone, after dinner the party motored to the Alexander Young Hotel and attended the "hop" that was given on that evening, in honor of Admiral and Mrs. Thomas and the officers of the Pacific fleet. Among Miss Stephens' guests were Mrs. Majorie Allen, Lieutenant Rhodes, Ensign Howard, Miss Ethel Spalding, Lieutenant Blair.

Birthday Party.
Miss Margaret Collins entertained a few of her schoolmates at a birthday party at her beautiful new home at Kaimuki last Friday evening. The house was beautifully decorated, being bedecked with flowers and greens and thrown open to the guests. Various games were played during the evening and several piano selections were enjoyed. At nine o'clock a delicious birthday supper was served in the adjoining dining room under a canopy of red and green and Christmas bolls. The holiday scheme being prominent throughout the table decoration. Each place card was fastened to a ray of red holly. The favors were small bon-bon baskets of red and green tied with small pieces of holly and the centerpiece was a large birthday cake supporting lighted candles. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the young hostess were: Miss Hazel Maxam, Miss Esther Cunningham, Miss Georgia Armstrong, Miss Eva Derkal, Messrs. C. M. Bell, Coder, S. M. Carter, Walter Grace, Leon Lamia, Martin Hartman and others.

Captain and Mrs. Games' Dinner.
At their home, 1704 Anapuni street, Captain and Mrs. Games of the U. S. Army entertained at dinner Tuesday evening. The oval table was banked with double purple violets. The dinner favors were corsage bouquets of violets for the women and boutonnieres for the men. Several delightful hours were spent around the dinner table. After the repast the company motored to the Alexander Young Hotel, where they attended the hop that was given on that evening. Among Captain and Mrs. Games' dinner guests were Major and Mrs. Edward Julius Timberlake, Captain and Mrs. Frank B. Edward, Captain and Mrs. Walter Johnson, U. S. A., and Captain "Jimmie" Height, Quartermaster-Captain of the Logan.
